Morchella and I on the move from WI to DC. She is not a fan of travel. She rates travel 0/10.

Morchella rates holiday trees 9/10. Here she is enjoying some holiday bird watching from her spot at the top of a 7 foot tree. Few ornaments survived.

I found Morchella in the woods of Kettle Moraine (Wisconsin) in July 2012. I named her Morchella after the morel mushroom, which is a species that can only be found in the wild, never domesticated. Here she is with her namesake.

Morchella rates cat naps 9/10...10/10 if she is sleeping on Mom.

Tissue paper is the bomb dot com. Morchella loves to attack, shred, nest, and nap in this sublime substance. Morchella rates tissue paper 100/10.

Morchella helps me work on my comprehensive exams. She rates grad school 9/10, because of all the extra time she got to spend on my lap while I was reading, writing, and editing. I dedicate all my educational achievements to her for her unwavering emotional support.
